Feedback:

Overall, the course material is really relevant to what is going on in the VFX and animation industries. I'm happy that there is ample room for the students to demonstrate their abilities in both artistic and technical areas.

These days, having good communication and time management skills is crucial, and I find that this is something they learn in the first phases of their education. They are now able to take up careers in non-technical fields thanks to this syllabus. VFX coordinators, line producers, artist managers, etc. are a few examples.
