Introduction

ADYPU plagiarism policy is that plagiarism, whether deliberate or unintentional, is a form of cheating and is unacceptable. It is expected that all students are educated in correct academic practice, including writing and referencing, early in their careers at the University and know what is expected of them and understand the meaning of plagiarism and its consequences.

Definition of plagiarism

ADYPU definition of plagiarism makes explicit that copying from texts or web or other sources and copying work from other students constitutes plagiarism. It reads:

1. Plagiarism is the act of taking or copying someone else's work, including another student's, and presenting it as if it were one's own.
2. Plagiarism is said to occur when ideas, texts, theories, data, created artistic artefacts or other material are presented without acknowledgement so that the person considering this work is given the impression that what they have before them is the student's own original work when it is not.
3. Plagiarism also occurs where a student's own work is re-presented without being properly referenced.
4. Plagiarism is a form of cheating and is a disciplinary offence.

Jain

Student declaration

The standard coursework submission sheet for the receipting of coursework includes an explicit reference to the University's definition of plagiarism as follows.

I declare that this is my own work and that any material I have referred to has been accurately and consistently referenced. I have read the University's policy on plagiarism and understand the definition of plagiarism as given in the [course/subject] handbook. If it is shown that material has been plagiarized, or I have otherwise attempted to obtain an unfair advantage for myself or others, I understand that I may face sanctions in accordance with the policies and procedures of

Types of Plagiarism

1. Using another writers' words without proper citation. If you use another writers' words, you must place quotation marks around the quoted material and include a footnote or other indication of the source of the quotation.
2. Using another writers' ideas without proper citation. When you use another author's ideas, you must indicate with footnotes or other means where this information can be found. Your instructors want to know which ideas and judgments are yours and which you arrived at by consulting other sources. Even if you arrived at the same judgment on your own, you need to acknowledge that the writer you consulted also came up with the idea.
3. Citing your source but reproducing the exact words of a printed source without quotation marks. This makes it appear that you have paraphrased rather than borrowed the author's exact words.
4. Borrowing the structure of another author's phrases or sentences without crediting the author from whom it came. This kind of plagiarism usually occurs out of laziness: it is easier to replicate another writers' style than to think about what you have read and then put it in your own words.

5. Borrowing all or part of another student's paper or using someone else's outline to write your own paper.
6. Using a paper writing service or having a friend write the paper for you. Regardless of whether you pay a stranger or have a friend do it, it is a breach of academic honesty to hand in work that is not your own or to use parts of another student's paper.
7. In computer programming classes, borrowing computer code from another student and presenting it as your own. When original computer code is a requirement for a class, it is a violation of the University's policy if students submit work they themselves did not create.

Punitive Measures for Plagiarism

The University's Policy provides simple, graduated frameworks of penalties for plagiarism relating the severity of penalties to the number of offences and gives individual, formative advice after the first offence. There are both academic and disciplinary consequences. If found guilty, the student will receive one of the following sanctions, listed in order of increasing severity. All actions are reported to the Dean of the School.

Disciplinary Warning

Verbal or written notification that the student has not met the University's standards of conduct, and that a repeated offense will result in more serious disciplinary action. It is not the case that first offenses automatically receive a warning; most first offenses receive a stricter response, with warnings reserved for cases with unusual mitigating circumstances.

AJEENKYA | THE INNOVATION
D Y PATIL UNIVERSITY UNIVERSITY

Reprimand

A written statement censuring a student for violating University regulations and stating that another offense will result in more serious action. This is normally considered a lenient response, even for first offenses.

Restitution

Requirement that the student compensate the University or other persons for damages, injuries, or losses. Failure to comply results in canceled registration and a hold on future registration.

Disciplinary Probation

An action that places conditions on the student's continued attendance at the University, including the statement that further violation of University policies will likely result in dismissal. The Committee fixes the term and conditions of academic probation. First offences often result in probation.

Suspension

A written statement notifying a student that his or her enrollment has been suspended for a specific period of time for violating University policy. The statement includes the terms and length of the suspension, as well as the conditions for re-admittance.

Dismissal

A written statement notifying a student that his or her attendance at the University has been terminated for violating University policy. Unlike suspension, dismissal is considered to be a permanent action. However, the institution may also provide conditions for re-admittance.
